DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 5,488,650 to Greco et al. (hereinafter "Greco"). For example, see the abstract, Figs. 1 and 4, and col. 3, lines 54-63.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Greco as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of U.S. Patent No. 6,701,366 B1 to Kallas et al. (hereinafter "Kallas").

Greco clearly discloses provisioning an IVR system via a telephonic interface comprising creating a custom personal IVR service node, setting a greeting, outgoing messages, password, sets of conditions and actions, and associating condition with action (cols. 7-10).

Art Unit: 2645

Greco fails to disclose, but Kallas teaches of providing telephonic access to an IVR system by using VoIP technology (abstract, Fig. 8, and cols. 3-4).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to add VoIP telephonic access as taught by the IVR system of Kallas to the telephonic IVR provisioning interface as disclosed by Greco.

The suggestion/motivation for doing so would have been to increase the accessibility and reliability of voice communication (Kallas, col. 1, lines 8-34) such as those voice communications that would have occurred during the telephonic, IVR provisioning session disclosed by Greco.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 5-8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Examiner's Reasons for Indicating Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 5 is directed to a detailed method of making a personal IVR service node that includes several specific steps such as specifying addressees of the recorded message, routing messages, and conducting statistical analysis of the personal IVR service node usage.

Art Unit: 2645

The closest prior art of record is the combination of Greco in view of Kallas (as applied above), which still fails to disclose the recited and specific steps discussed above (specifying addressees of the recorded message, routing messages, and conducting statistical analysis of the personal IVR service node usage).

The remaining prior art of record fails to teach or fairly suggest the obviousness of substantially modifying the combination of Greco in view of Kallas in order to arrive at the invention as claimed in detail by the application.

The above reasons for allowance are based on the claims as presently set forth in their totality. The above reasons for allowance should not be interpreted as indicating that amended claims broadly reciting certain limitations discussed in the above reasons for allowance would be allowable. A more detailed reasons for allowance may be set forth in a subsequent Notice of Allowance if and when all claims in the application are put into a condition for allowance.
